

Lavender Fields

On my website, I am planning to share and show you the most beautiful flower fields that I really want to go. I saw this while watching the popular K-Drama entitled “Queen of Tears”, when the two main characters are in Germany for their honeymoon. Whether you’re a lavender enthusiast, a traveler, or just curious about its beauty and significance, this website is your gateway to discovering the magic of these iconic blooms. Lavender are found in many countries, like France, Japan, United Kingdom, Australia, and Germany. There are five sections on this website, such as:

Home – you can see the homepage of my website entitled “Lavender Fields”. Also you can see the on top-right corner the HOME, ABOUT, EXPLORE, and CONTACT, this navigation bar helps you explore more.

About – it states here the history and meaning of Lavender. It also has a Virtual Tour where you can see how Lavender Fields look likes, you’ll just click the VIRTUAL TOUR and it links you to YouTube.

Explore – In this section, states the Lavender’s information and when it blooms on different countries, like France, Japan, Germany, United Kingdom, and Australia.

Images – There are some picture of lavender in this section.

Videos – You can see the 2 videos where it will tour you the surroundings of Lavender Fields.

Contact Us – If you have concerns about my website or you have some recommendation/suggestions to add on my website, I’ll put my contact information in this section.
